Good Morning!

For those who may not know, I am now stationed in warm, sunny Austin, Texas at the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's (Service) Austin Ecological Services Field Office.

Elizabeth (Libby) Benolkin (elizabeth_benolkin@fws.gov) is now the Service's point-of-contact for this project, along with Angela Matz. If Libby and Angela are unavailable Doug Cooper, Ecological Services Branch Chief for the Anchorage Fish and Wildlife Conservation Office, is available at douglass_cooper@fws.gov.

It has been a pleasure working with you on this and other projects, and I hope our paths cross again. I hope you enjoy the day.

Sincerely,
Catherine Yeargan

Subject: [Non-DoD Source] RE: Wild Alaskan - Hazardous Materials Survey Report

All,

Now that the weather is getting better I'd like to discuss the scuttling of the Wild Alaskan. We have made some great progress this winter and we think we will be ready at the end of April to get a weather window. We are trying to get a preliminary inspection at the end of next week with hopes of disposal at the end of the month if all goes well. We are planning on contracting Resolve Marine to tow the vessel and use their approved demolition expert.

Thanks again for all your support. Standing by if anyone has any questions/request info.

v/r,
Mike

Hello – Please see the attached Hazardous Materials Survey of the Wild Alaskan by the City of Kodiak. The City asked me to distribute the report to the wider group in advance of our discussion this afternoon.

Mike – I look forward to you walking us through this report and continuing to discuss next steps for the Wild Alaskan.
